Undergraduate Independent Studies and Research Opportunities Directed

- Directed 32 Independent Study Undergraduate Student Projects since Fall 2007. Six students received an Undergraduate Research Fellowship ($1,000), six have presented papers as part of UT Undergraduate Research Week and one received an Honorable Mention Award. Two students have presented at NCA. Four students have presented at the McCombs Healthcare Symposium.
- Supervised 13 Undergraduate Research Teams in my time on faculty. Directed 15 undergraduate students as part of the Undergraduate Mentorship Program, directed four as part of my funded U.S. Census Bureau Project, co-managed four as part of a President's Award for Global Learning, co-managed 6 as part of my IC2 Disasters and Community project, and the remaining have worked on independent projects.
- Co-managed, along with two other faculty colleagues, four undergraduate students and one doctoral student as part of our President's Award for Global Learning. We collected quantitative and qualitative data at UT Austin and in Mexico City around Stress, Communication, and COVID-19. The project lasted over two years. The faculty assisted the students as they presented research in Bath, England, and prepared a video competing for undergraduate research competitions.
