RESEARCH GRANTS

2008-2009 a grant from Norway (US partner) called "Energy in a New Time" that is funded for four years by the Norwegian Government for $300,000 to facilitate teacher and graduate student research to conduct an interdisciplinary examination of the communication issues related to energy exploration in the "High North" of Norway, Russia, Canada, and the United States. In August 2009, this program funded six graduate students from the University of Texas at Austin to attend a week-long program designed to foster international research collaboration among Norwegian, Russian, and American students. I have been asked to offer a research methods course for Masters and Ph. D. students and to complete research (in concert with American and Norwegian Graduate Students) that emphasizes the communication among the stakeholders including Native Peoples, NGOs, fisheries, and gas and oil producers in the "High North" of Norway.

- 2000-03 A $125,000 (with David Gibson and Senem Guney) contract with the IBM Center for Advanced Systems to study Complexity Science in the development of the Regatta-4 server.
- 2001-03 A $35,000 contract with Hewlett Packard to study the interaction of computer and personal communication.
- 2000-01 A $40,000 contract with Hewlett Packard to study the interaction of computer and personal communication.
- 1996-97 (with Sim Sitkin and Kathleen Sutcliffe) a $25,000 contract with the U.S. Air Force to benchmark two organizations and design executive training from the data. Grant administered by Duke University, Fall 1996.
- 1995-97 (with Sim Sitkin and Kathleen Sutcliffe) $340,000, The study of best practices in Total Quality Management. National Science Foundation, May 1995.
- 1994 $64,900 research grant to study the transfer of a computer manufacturing plant from Santa Clara California to Austin Texas.
- 1992-94 $110,000 grant from SEMATECH to write a cultural history of the first four years of SEMATECH.
- 1978-1979 $240,000, Intergovernmental Personnel Act (IPA) grant to study effects of negotiation training and technology implementation. Research resulted in four convention papers, three journal publications, and one student dissertation resulting in a top-three ranking and publication in the Communication Yearbook.
