Recommended Courses for Exchange Students, Spring 2017

All course offerings are subject to change. Be sure to check prerequisite information on the course schedule.

Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders

CSD 306K INTRODUCTION TO COMM DISORDERS

Note: If a CSD course listed above is "closed" on the online course schedule, you must seek approval to register for the class. This can be done by going to the Student Advising Office in BMC 2.600. Because most of our undergraduate classes are restricted for communication sciences and disorders majors, we will not be able to accommodate you in courses other than those listed above. Professors CANNOT approve additions.

You may use a special consent form (request one from the Student Advising Office, BMC 2.600), or you may get consent via email and forward the email to journalism advisor Jeff Hallock (jeff.hallock@austin.utexas.edu). Please be sure to include your name, your UT EID, the course title and unique number of the course you wish to add, and the unique number of any course you need to drop if we can successfully add you to the class.

OBTAINING INSTRUCTOR CONSENT TO TAKE AN UNDERGRADUATE CLASS DOES NOT GUARANTEE YOU A SEAT IN THE CLASS.

Because most of our undergraduate classes are required for journalism undergraduates, we MUST give priority in these classes to journalism undergraduate students. After registration has ended, we will check the enrollment and waitlists for the undergraduate classes. If space is still available after all undergraduates have been accommodated, then we will add any additional students who received consent to take the classes. Until then, you should register for other classes that will satisfy your degree requirements and should not count on the Journalism undergraduate class. If we are able to add you, we will do so, but we may not be able to notify you. We may not be able to add you until a few days prior to the start of the semester.
