University of Texas at Austin students:
Intern with Sports Illustrated magazine in New York City while remaining a full-time student

Application deadlines:
Fall internship: first Monday in April
Spring internship: first Monday in October

The program: Sports Illustrated offers a full-time, paid internship, which allows qualified UT students to earn up to six hours of academic credit, depending on internship guidelines in each college or academic unit.

As an intern at Sports Illustrated, your primary job will be as a fact-checker for stories that will appear in the weekly magazine. Your ability to pay strict attention to detail will be crucial, and you'll apply both research and problem-solving skills while also drawing upon your knowledge of current events. You'll work a four- to five-day week, depending on your assignments for the Sports Illustrated weekly magazine and Sports Illustrated Presents, which produces commemorative issues. (SI has also welcomed two photo interns from UT, and they have worked mostly for the weekly magazine.)

While at SI, interns will have the opportunity to sit in on weekly editorial meetings and, separately, to brainstorm story ideas to pitch for publication. (Some interns have been published in the SCORECARD section of the magazine and some on SI.com.)

Enrollment in the College of Communication is not a prerequisite for application to SI. Writing samples, whether from The Daily Texan or from an English, political science or art history class, must be strong. SI looks for hardworking, inquisitive individuals who pride themselves on being precise and on turning in immaculate work. Cover letters and résumés with typos will not be considered.

Qualifications: All UT undergraduate and graduate-level students who meet the eligibility requirements to complete an internship for academic credit may apply. Intern applicants are encouraged to consult with their academic advisers about specific internship requirements and to ensure eligibility for a semester away from campus.

Application deadline and process: Interested candidates should submit the following application materials as PDFs, when applicable. Audio, video and photographic or design work samples should be attached, appropriate to the medium. Incomplete applications will not be considered.

- Cover letter that states why you are interested in interning with Sports Illustrated and what area(s) of journalism you hope to experience as an SI intern
- Professional résumé
- A letter/email of recommendation from a UT faculty member (professor or lecturer, not a teaching assistant)
- A letter/email of recommendation from a current or former internship or job supervisor
- Three work samples that illustrate relevant journalistic skills (writing, editing, layout and design, photo, multimedia, social media, broadcast, etc.)

Submit the application via email to Professor Wanda Cash: wgcash@mail.utexas.edu